Doctor/Tegan/Turlough

/(THE DOCTOR, TEGAN AND TURLOUGH ARE CROUCHED UNDER THE HULL OF THE COLONY SHIP. FROM THE SOUND OF THE MISSILES LANDING ON THE METAL PLATE-WORK WE GATHER BOMBARDMENT IS ABATING)

TEGAN: It's getting lighter.

THE DOCTOR: I think the attack's nearly over.

THE DOCTOR: Let's get out of here. Come on, the TARDIS.

Pan with them

PLANTAGENET)

NORNA: Wait!

PLANTAGENET: Get out of the way.

THE DOCTOR: Be careful - Norna.

55. 3 2/S
Norna/Range

NORNA: (TO PLANTAGENET) Why did Captain Revere dedicate the whole of his life to analysing the rocks of Frontios?/

56. 2 2/S
Brazen/Plant.

BRAZEN: Remove her.

PLANTAGENET: No, wait! Why do you ask when the reason is well known. My father sought the precious minerals beneath the soil./

57. 3 2/S
A/B

NORNA: What precious minerals? Did he find any?/

58. 2 M/S
Plantagenet

PLANTAGENET: He knew there must be some reason for the perpetual carnage our neighbours inflict on us./

59. 3 2/S
A/B

NORNA: If the Doctor is the invader, he has the answer to that question./

60. 4 G/S

TO PLANTAGENET.

THE YOUNG RULER LISTENS, THEN:)

PLANTAGENET: (POINTING TO TEGAN) No wait.
You go./

61. 3 2/S
Tegan/Doctor

TEGAN: I don't know anything about lighting.

BRAZEN: Go on - get a move on.

(THE ORDERLY RAISES THE SHOTGUN)

THE DOCTOR: We'd better do as they say. (ASIDE TO HER) We're quite safe as long as we keep calm. Now trust me.

62. 4 G/S
A/B

(SHE STOMPS OFF,
FOLLOWED BY ONE OF THE BURLY ORDERLIES.

PLANTAGENET TURNS TO THE DOCTOR)

PLANTAGENET: Well, Doctor? Can you enlighten us as to the reason for these bombardments? /

63. 3 M/S
Doctor

THE DOCTOR: In time, if you let me investigate. If, on the other hand, if you're going to kill me, you'd better get on with it./

64. 2 M/S

(THE GUN-BEARER
LOOKS TO PLANTAGENET FOR A DECISION.

PLANTAGENET TURNS TO BRAZEN FOR HIS ADVICE.

BUT THE BIG MAN'S FACE IS IMPASSIVE - IT IS FOR THE LEADER TO DECIDE)

PLANTAGENET: (AFTER A MOMENT) Kill him!

65. 4 G/S

NORNA: No!

THE DOCTOR: This wasn't what I had in mind at all.

(PLANTAGENET NODS TO
THE ORDERLY WITH THE SHOTGUN, THEN TURNS
ABRUPTLY AND WALKS AWAY.

NORNA GRABS FOR THE GUN, GRAPPLING WITH ITS OWNER)

Tegan

(TEGAN STRUCK BY A SUDDEN THOUGHT)

TEGAN: The Doctor is safe

259. 1 2/S — isn't he? /

Range/Tegan

RANGE: For the time-being, but Death is a daily occurrence on this planet. As you can see. The constant state of panic and the growing number of Rets...

TEGAN: Rets?

RANGE: Retrogrades. It's what we call the deserters. More of them leave every week to hunt out in the wastes like animals.

Keep Tegan in as she comes L.

TEGAN: Orderlies shoot deserters.

Rise with Range

RANGE: If they have to. Oh yes it's a waste of life, but discipline is paramount.

TEGAN: Discipline! Every death increases the danger of extinction!

Do
RANGE: You think I'm not aware of that?

face with their persecutors./ For my father's sake I should like the question answered, Doctor. /

74. 3A M/S Doctor /

THE DOCTOR: That precious rocks under the soil business? Well, so would I. Whatever's going on here has put paid to my Tardis. /

75. 2 M/S A/B

PLANTAGENET: You deny you're at war with us?

76. 3 M/S A/B

THE DOCTOR: If it is war - and I'm not so sure about that - then you and I, Plantagenet, are in the same shell-hole./

77. 4 A/B

(cont...)

(HE WEIGHS THE MISSILE FRAGMENTS IN HIS HAND, TO NORNA)

THE DOCTOR: (cont) Now, does anyone know where these are coming from.

Well we know it's
NORNA:/ One of the other planets in the Veruna System.

BRAZEN: Without instruments it's impossible to tell.

THE DOCTOR: This rock analysis thing? You've been looking into the whyfores. I think we should investigate the where froms. Mr Range tells me you have a Research Room.

BRAZEN: The Research Room was sealed up by the orders of the late Captain Revere.

THE DOCTOR: Well, if you want answers you'd better unseal it./

Norna/Turlough

TURLOUGH: Why didn't you dig deep bunkers? The Arar-Jecks of Heiradi hollowed out a large subterranean city under their planet during the twenty eon war.

NORNA: There was a quarry where the stone came from to build the medical shelter. They converted that into a place to get away from the bombardment.

TURLOUGH: Sounds very sensible.

Let Turlough
U/S

NORNA:
we always used to go there to shelter.
And then all that got stopped.

TURLOUGH: Why?

NORNA: Captain Revere made a law against it.

TURLOUGH: As simple as that? He made A law?

NORNA: Forbidding any digging in the ground...

Let Turlough
sit to 2/S
fav. Norna

TURLOUGH: Surely there must have been a reason?

NORNA: Captain Revere never gave reasons. (SUDDENLY REMEMBERING) Except...Once when I was very small I was sitting on his knee in the State Room, and I asked him why we couldn't go underground any more and he said ...

(SHE TRIES TO REMEMBER)

Well,
It was a child's answer...It seemed quite sensible at the time.

HE HAS LOWERED THE HOOK AT THE END OF THE BLOCK AND TACKLE AND NOW HE IS PULLING THE BLOCK AND TACKLE ALONG THE OVERHEAD BEAM, SCANNING THE FLOOR BENEATH IT)

TURLOUGH: No, not really. The block and tackle's a simple enough invention.

NORNA: I mean you and your excuses to get out of helping.

TURLOUGH: How long ago were you in the Research Room?

NORNA: When I was small. I came here with my father when he was still Captain Revere's personal Science Assistant.

TURLOUGH: And was that up there then?

(HE INDICATES THE BLOCK AND TACKLE)

NORNA: No.

153. 4B M/S Turlough

TURLOUGH: Exactly./ These floor plates are solid metal. Heavy solid metal. Norna, come here.

BRAZEN: What do you know about deaths unaccountable?

TEGAN: Just a phrase I heard.

BRAZEN: Heard? where?

TEGAN: I don't know... heard it somewhere.

BRAZEN: (GRABBING HER ARM) Or in some records.

TEGAN: Oh, you know about the data store then?

What's the matter?

RANGE: ... I'm afraid they may be in danger down there.

THE DOCTOR: Turlough wouldn't risk an unsafe tunnel.

RANGE: ... No, not that. I've suspected for a long time that Captain Revere ordered the quarry closed because of something he found.

THE DOCTOR: What sort of ... something?

RANGE: ... A geological feature, perhaps. Something beneath the surface it might be dangerous to disturb.
